Little Edwin's weekly allowance was five cents each day, provided he took his bath and brushed his teeth regularly, and each Sunday the seven cents which he saved during the week were put into the contribution box at Sunday school. One Monday night Edwin rushed breathlessly in from school and, climbing into the cupboard, he got the bottle of much-depended medicine and took it to his mother, saying: "Ma, I guess I'd take this week's physic in advance." Mr. Bird's Credentials.

We cheerfully accord space this morning for Mr. Charles Sumner Bird's explanation of the source of his authority to speak for Col. Roosevelt in this state. He gets it, he says, from the people of Massachusetts by their establishing the present system. But this is not what we were discussing. We simply asked what authority Mr. Bird and his associates derived from Col. Roosevelt to speak for him. In answer Mr. Bird says Mr. Roosevelt has "never asked any one to vote for the unpiloted delegates." Granted! He has never said of them that their efforts were "undertaken without his consent and continued without his acquiescence," as he has said of Mr. Bird and his associates.

In a closing sentence the eminent Progressive declares that the Herald has been for weeks, is now for Hughes and will be for Roosevelt. Only with the historical phase of this picture are we concerned. It is true that at one time we deemed it fitting as part of a free and open convention, in which the delegates from all sections in conference with their associates would make the eventual choice, that the various states should present their several possibilities. We accordingly recommended that Massachusetts should pay our junior senator this handsome compliment.

The time, however, came in the evolution of the campaign for plain speaking, with actual results in view, and then we made clear our own desire that Mr. Hughes should be asked to serve as the party's standard-bearer. And by that position we expect to abide. To it men in all parts of the country are now happily gathering, until something akin to a tide toward Hughes is in evidence.

Speaking of changing positions, does not Mr. Bird remember when he recommended for the Republican nomination—with impartial hand—both Roosevelt and Hughes? We have taken the liberty to avail ourselves of the range of selection which he offered. That is all.—Boston Herald.

The Arithmetic Lesson.

"This," said a teacher to her class of small arithmeticians, "is a unit." She held up a pencil. "This box is a unit, too." And she showed them a ruler, a flower and an apple.

Then she peeled the apple, and, holding up the peel, said: "Now, children, what is this?"

"Come, you know what it is," she urged. Little Bill's hand went up slowly. "Well, William," said the teacher. "Please, ma'am, the skin of a unit."

A Good Manager.

"If I'm not home from the party to-night at 10 o'clock," said a husband to his better and bigger half, "don't wait for me."

"That I won't," said the lady, significantly. "I won't wait, but I'll go for you."

He returned at 10 precisely.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly" at Park Theatre Monday.

The most beautiful Japanese gardens in the United States were secured by Director Sidney Olcott for the staging of the Famous Players Film company's screen adaptation of John Luther Long's "Madame Butterfly," in which Mary Pickford plays the beloved Cho-Cho-San, the little Japanese girl who commits suicide when her American husband proves false.

Feminine fidelity and trusting faith have few more dramatic and pathetic impersonations than the beloved Cho-Cho-San, which Mary Pickford so admirably interprets in the Famous Players Film company's adaptation of John Luther Long's classic "Madame Butterfly." It is one of the sweetest and most lovable characters that has ever been presented on the screen and in the portrayal of the role Mary Pickford does the most remarkable work of her career.

It is an interesting coincidence that Mary Pickford should play the first Oriental role which she has ever enacted in "Madame Butterfly," John Luther Long's great classic which was the first work of an American author to be adapted to an operatic score. The Famous Players Film company has just completed a superb photo-adaptation of that celebrated story, which will be the Paramount offering at the Park for next Monday. In this production we are promised the greatest work of Miss Pickford's career.—adv.

Even the Cat.

An Indianapolis woman who recently returned from Rochester, Minn., where she was taking treatment of the Mayos, tells the following story of a farmer who was visiting in the city:

"And this park was given to the city by the Mayos!" he exclaimed.

"And the Mayos gave this library to the city, and this church was built by the Mayos, and the money for this school was contributed by the Mayos," informed his host as they sped about the city seeing the sights.

"Well, that is wonderful," said the farmer. Here comes a cat. I suppose that belongs to the Mayos, too. Let's stop and ask it."

"Say kitty, who do you belong to?" asked the farmer of the cat.

"Me-ow," replied the cat.

at least once a day. Wash thoroughly with a warm, creamy lather of it, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleaning it.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Cream are sold in all drug stores, and usually stop itching instantly.

COSTS MORE—WEARS LONGER

Every roll of RU-BER-OID that we have sold has given perfect satisfaction. We know that RU-BER-OID is made of better materials than any other roofing that we could buy. It contains no paper, wood fibre, tar, asphalt or other short-lived materials such as are found in cheaper roofings. RU-BER-OID roofing always looks well. Its color is attractive gray—the same shade as more expensive slate. Colored RU-BER-OID (Koloroid) is made in permanent Red and Copper Green.

Come in and let us show you this roofing, which is so good that it is widely imitated. So called "Rubber roofings" are counterfeits. There is only one RU-BER-OID. The genuine has the "Ru-Ber-old Man," shown above, on every roll.
